Preparations well underway for Abingdon's annual feast of festive fun and entertainment

By Adam Flinn

adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

ABINGDON is getting ready to celebrate Christmas at the end of the month, with the town's annual Christmas Extravaganza due to take place on November 30.

Residents, visitors and businesses will be treated to a day of entertainment, with a number of stalls, fireworks, and a parade taking place through the town.

It is run and organised as a joint effort between Abingdon Town Council, the Choose Abingdon Partnership and the town's Chamber of Commerce, and returns after its first Saturday staging last year.

Jill Carver, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said: "I've been doing this for 11 years, and I know it was well established before then."

"We used to do it on an evening, usually a Thursday evening, and then last year we tried it on a Saturday, because so many people with young families were saying the fireworks were too late for them."

"We also had some really cold evenings for a couple of years, so people were disappearing before the fireworks, it was just too late."

"So last year we moved it to Saturday for the first time, and on the whole it went very well, so we're doing it again on the Saturday this time."

This year's parade starts at the Charter car park at 11.45am, before making its way through the town to end up in the Market Place.

Meanwhile, there will be a mix of free entertainment happening around Abingdon, including baby animals, Punch and Judy and the popular reindeer.

Local charities, clubs and businesses are encouraged to take part, and take advantage of the increase in crowds in Abingdon for the day.

In the evening, Abingdon's Christmas lights will be switched on, with the honour this year going to the 'best-dressed child' from the parade.

The extravaganza is in collaboration with the National Indie Christmas campaign, which focuses on encouraging families within the community to visit local and independent traders in their area.

A brochure for the Christmas Extravaganza has been published and distributed around the town, with details of entertainment on offer and shops taking part.

Organisations or performers interested in taking part should contact Jill on 01235 537405 or via email: christmas@abingdon-chamber.co.uk.

'Give them a fitting final resting place'

OXFORD war graves that had become overgrown and forgotten about have been restored, after work to bring the site to its former glory was carried out by a team from RAF Benson.

The graves at Osney Lane Cemetery is the final resting place of 27 soldiers, and each headstone has been prepared to receive dwarf daffodils, snowdrops and white stone chippings.

It was the idea of Sergeant Steve Brown, who noticed the overgrown graves as he passed by the site on a train.

Steve then visited the cemetery to inspect the graves, and began to work to restore the site.

This included a lot of back-ground work, first to confirm that the graves were registered with the War Graves Commission, and then to ensure there were no family objections to the proposed project.

They then collected the bulbs

By Adam Flinn

adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

and a donation of stone chippings from Wickes, before clearing the site of weeds and preparing the headstones.

Steve said: "The graves were scattered across the cemetery and we wanted to make sure that they were uniform."

"We couldn't place the stone chippings surrounding the headstone as you would normally see on a war grave, as some of the headstones were so close to the railings."

"But we hope that the work we've managed to do gives a small amount of respect to the boys who gave their lives for us."

The project was carried out by the Military Provost Guard Service (MPGS) from RAF Benson, and worked on by Steve, Lance Corporal Dean Millward and Private Pat Lockyer.

They were also assisted by colleagues Corporal Pat Bone and Lance Corporal Hern Thapa, who were on duty during the renovations.

Dean said: "We are honoured to be able to take on this project as a unit."

"The MPGS at RAF Benson are a close knit bunch and many of us have seen action at some point in our career."

"To know that we have been able to give these guys a fitting final resting place is a heart-warming feeling."

"As the poem says, they gave their tomorrow for our today, and we should be eternally grateful to them all."

The team will continue to look after the graves to keep them in a good condition, and ensure they are suitable for the fallen soldiers.

They also visited the cemetery over the weekend to commemorate Remembrance Day, laying a wreath and placing a personalised poppy on a small wooden cross on each grave.

Suspended sentence for Oxford man, 24

A 24-YEAR-OLD man was given a four-month suspended prison sentence at Oxford Magistrates' Court last Thursday, following a sexual assault which occurred in July.

Silviano Pereira, of Sorrell Road, Blackbird Leys, was also given a 24-month supervision requirement, and ordered to pay £750 in compensation to the victim.

The incident in question took place on a bus in the Blackbird Leys area, where Pereira inappropriately touched his victim, a 23-year-old woman.

He pleaded guilty to one count of sexual assault by touching following the offence, which occurred in the early hours of July 27.

Investigating officer Det Con Darren Little of Local CID in Oxford said: "I hope this case highlights the fact that Thames Valley Police will investigate every report of sexual assault."

"I welcome the sentence imposed upon Pereira, who will face imprisonment should he commit any offences in the next two years."

"I hope Pereira's sentencing will now bring some closure to the victim, who was extremely distressed by the incident."

Townsend cleared of all sex assault charges

ABINGDON Chamber of Commerce's former president Paul Townsend has been cleared of 20 sexual offences charges, at the end of his trial at Oxford Crown Court on Friday.

Mr Townsend was charged back in March and stepped down as president as a result, along with his former role on the Dunmore Pre-School Committee.

Charges included 13 counts of sexual activity with a child, three of sexual assault and a further four of causing or inciting a child to engage in sexual activity.

They related to alleged incidents by four teenage girls over a two-year period, with Townsend stating all along that he had only hugged them.

He admitted to buying one of the girls some lacy underwear, but denied all other allegations after first being arrested in August 2012.

Jurors took approximately six and a half hours to reach their decision on Friday, to conclude the three-week trial.

News BitesToilets open

GLOUCESTER Green's public toilets will be officially opened today, following a refurbishment of the facility as part of a scheme to improve 21 public conveniences across Oxford.

The new toilets incorporate premium fixtures and fittings, featuring energy efficient hand wash facilities and bright low-energy LED lighting.

It is part of a major overhaul of the Gloucester Green toilets, with the dated electrics and plumbing systems being completely upgraded.

He said: "The new facilities are completely transformed with increased space and new parent and baby facilities."

"The transformation is amazing and I am delighted with the results, and I hope the residents and visitors to the city are as well."

Work to improve the toilets cost approximately £130,000, with the total cost of the scheme expected to be £450,000.

Happy dogs!

A BANBURY charity has received £13,000, which was raised by this year's annual Wasperton to Stratford raft race organised by the Wellesbourne and Shakespeare Lions clubs.

Dogs for the Disabled also entered a team themselves, and won the 'Endurance Shield' by completing the entire seven mile course with their raft partially submerged.

Jane Sargent, regional fundraiser for the charity, said: "We are delighted the Lions have raised this fantastic sum to help us purchase and train more assistance dogs."

Online history project continues in Abingdon

• A photo of former pupil Lieutenant Bernard Sanderson Marshall, and (inset) a page from a 1928 school rulebook, are just two of the items featured online

ABINGDON School has embarked on a major project to document the last 450 years of history at the site, available for the public to view online.

Based on the History of the World in 100 Objects by Neil MacGregor, the school is showcasing 63 items including an 18th century maths book and a rulebook from 1928.

The number 63 is significant for the school as it was in 1563 that a 63-year-old John Roysse endowed a school for 63 scholars in a room that was 63 feet long. The project has been running

By Adam Flinn

adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

since the start of the year, with objects uploaded every Tuesday and Thursday during term-time.

It was the idea of Abingdon School's archivist Sarah Wearne, who prepares all the articles to be published online.

She said: "I have enjoyed being able to share Abingdon's rich heritage with the world in a way that just isn't possible in an ordinary exhibition or printed book."

Speaking about the online history, former pupil Mathew Iredale said: "[The objects are] at times moving, at times amusing and at times horrifying."

Donald Hunter, a former pupil who left in 1964, said: "I look forward to every Tuesday and Thursday when there is yet another item to be savoured and enjoyed, perhaps a pity that it should be limited to only 63."

"But it is never less than fascinating and offers a series of snapshots of the school which brings the past to life in a way that words alone would not do."

Abingdon Town Council's archivist Jackie Smith said: "I think what strikes me most is the extent and variety of the archive that the school holds."

"Thanks to the Internet, 'A History of Abingdon School in 63 Objects' is available at the touch of a button to anyone interested without the need to make appointments or to belong to a select coterie."

Tuesday will see object number 55 being uploaded – a 1953 film that shows a boy cycling through the quiet streets of Abingdon.

Still to come is a recording of the Highway Code sung by a group of Abingdon teachers who called themselves The Mastersingers.

Abingdon School's online history can be found at www.abingdon.org.uk/63objects.

Voyeur charged

A 32-YEAR-OLD man has been charged with voyeurism, relating to an incident that was committed at Abingdon Police Station.

The man, from Somerset, was also charged with one count of theft on Saturday.

He has been bailed to appear in court on November 25.

Recruitment

RECRUITMENT events for the Army Reserve are taking place in Abingdon every Tuesday, offering people the chance to find out more about what being a reservist would involve.

Open evenings take place from 7.30pm to 9.30pm at the Edward Brooks Barracks on Cholswell Road, and showcase the careers available.

Brigadier Andrew Jackson, director of Army recruiting and training, said: "Joining the Army Reserve is an exciting opportunity for anyone."

Big collection

A BIG Collection weekend at the Tesco store in Abingdon has raised more than £900 for Diabetes UK, as part of a national charity partnership between the two.

A total of £906.75 was raised from October 4 to 6, and was added to a national total of more than £370,000. The money will be used to help people take action to reduce their risk of type two diabetes, and fund investment into research for a type one vaccine.

Free pre-Christmas parking for Abingdon's shoppers

SHOPPERS in Abingdon are being given an entire day of free parking on November 30, to encourage visitors to the town in the run-up to Christmas.

At the moment, two hours of free parking is available every day in all of Abingdon's car parks run by Vale of White Horse District Council.

With this scheme, it is hoped more shoppers will take advantage of the full day at the end of the month, helping to boost Abingdon's town centre economy in the process.

As well as in Abingdon, shoppers can park all day for free in Faringdon on November 30, and then in Wantage on December 7.

Cllr Matthew Barber, leader of the council, said: "We hope as many people as possible will take advantage of the free Christmas parking to get their presents from their nearest Vale market town centres.

"And remember, for those who already have other plans on those Saturdays, they can still park for free for two hours all year round."

For those days only, visitors will not need to display a ticket to use the car parks.

Children's charity donations are hampered!

NURSERY children from Rose Hill have done their bit for charity by donating harvest hampers full of food to local causes.

The hampers have been donated to Helen and Douglas House, Oxford Children's Hospital and Oxford Homeless Pathways.

The children teamed up with the Midcounties Co-operative Food store in Ashurst Way, Oxford, and chose food from the shop to put into their specially decorated hampers.

Aaron Gee, store Manager at the shop in Oxford, said: "It was great having the children come into the store and they were interested in the different types of food we have and where it comes from."

"The children were very enthusiastic about donating the food to the charities they selected and were excited to get the hampers back to the nursery to decorate."

Lisa Thornton, nursery manager at Rose Hill, added: "We took five groups of children into the food store and they really enjoyed choosing what to put in their hampers.

"After bringing the hampers back to the nursery, the children worked together to decorate them, which they loved. "It was a fun activity for the children to get involved in as it really helped them learn about the importance of charitable giving."

PLANNING permission has been granted to five projects in Oxford, which form part of Oxford City Council's capital programme of car parking works.

The works will take place over the next three years at a cost of £1.5m, part of which has already funded the completed verge protection project at Ashurst Way in Rose Hill.

As a result of the approval, 18 residents' parking spaces will be created in Blackbird Leys Road, with 16 spaces being created in Chillingworth Crescent.

There will also be 19 spaces created in Monks Close, 13 in Redmoor Close and 30 in Normandy Crescent.

Work on Blackbird Leys is scheduled to start later this month after a number of long-standing complaints about vehicles parking on grass verges, with parking improvements being top of a residents' wish list.

"These projects form part of the Great Estates programme," said Cllr Scott Seamons, board

By Adam Flinn

adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

member for housing.

"We are delivering improvements to the external areas of our housing estates, and having these approved means we can now move these projects forward."

"As a local councillor, I know from calling round that the parking problem on Blackbird Leys Road is particularly bad."

"It's great to see that local concerns have been listened to and the work is now starting."

"Many of our estates were built before tenants owned one car, let alone the two or more they have today, creating an obvious need for more parking provision."

"At the moment, tenants in some places have taken to parking on the grass with little other option available."

"We want to create quality external environments in our estates with proper parking spaces provided and the remaining green spaces protected."

A further 35 sites are now being considered as part of next year's programme, which is currently being formed.

Get down to university's spring school

BOOKING is now open for Oxford University's Spring School, organised by the Faculty of English Language and Literature on the theme of British poetry of the First World War.

It will run from April 3 to 5 and is open to the public, bringing together experts on First World War poetry to give lectures and guide attendees to further avenues of study.

Dr Stuart Lee, organiser of Spring School, said: "The poetry of the First World War is some of the most important and influential work of the 20th century, shaping our attitudes to war and still having enormous cultural resonances."

"This is witnessed by the national debate surrounding the commemoration of the start of the war 100 years on."

"However, the poetry also brings into question so many 'truths' that it is appropriate we revisit this important body of work in a new light in 2014."

Speakers who have been confirmed to attend next year's event include Adrian Barlow, Simon Featherstone and Jane Potter, alongside a number of other experts in the field.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

ADVERTISEMENT

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Josh Flory feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps."

Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service Oxfordshire from their local depots and Josh is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated." So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Josh a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Winter lights preparations

TWO free workshops are being held in Carterton this weekend, to give people the chance to make their very own lanterns ahead of the town's Winter Lights Procession.

Oxfordshire artist Emma Cooling and West Oxfordshire District Council arts and leisure manager Heather McCulloch will lead the workshops, and help residents create paper lanterns ahead of the procession, taking place on November 29.

Heather, who has been involved with the event since it started four years ago, said: "I love the Carterton winter lights workshops."

"Each year so many people come along and I am looking forward to seeing familiar faces and meeting old friends again. It's a lovely atmosphere, really magical."

Both will take place at Carterton Community Centre: the first on Saturday from 10am to 4pm, and the second on Sunday from 1pm to 5pm.

The procession itself begins at 5.30pm at the community centre, arriving in town for participants to see the Christmas lights being switched on.

Cllr Richard Langridge said: "The event has really captured the imagination of the people of Carterton with some wonderful lanterns created each year."

Witney veteran, 89, revisits battlefields

By Adam Flinn

adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

A WITNEY Second World War veteran, who has taken part in the National Lottery funded project D-Day Revisited, has appeared on Saturday night's National Lottery Live programme.

Patrick Churchill, 89, was one of nine veterans to appear on Saturday's show as part of D-Day Revisited, which was established in 2008 to ensure that the thousands of lives lost are not forgotten.

Veterans have been able to pay their tributes to the soldiers who didn't come home by making pilgrimages to the Normandy beaches, after the project was given over £44,000 of lottery funding.

Patrick was an RM Commando who landed on Juno Beach early on D-Day, and has been awarded the Croix de Guerre medal by former French President Jacques Chirac.

"I was delighted to have had this opportunity to appear on National Lottery Live," said Patrick. "It is an ideal way to show our appreciation for the funding.

• Veterans taking part in D-Day Revisited, which sees them return to Normandy

"It means such a great deal to return to those battlefields. Although nearly 70 years have passed, we still feel a strong sense of duty to return to pay respects to our comrades who were not so fortunate."

John Phipps of D-Day Revisited said: "We are always keen for the wider public to learn about the Normandy landings and how it has affected all our lives. In many ways the veterans are ordinary people from within our own neighbourhoods."

"They are granddads and great-granddads now, yet when they were young men they trained hard, then stormed the beaches of the Atlantic Wall and liberated Europe."

"For that huge contribution to our modern freedoms, D-Day Revisited's motivation is to help veterans to be front and centre so that we can learn more of our nation's history from the people who were actually there."

Each year, D-Day Revisited take around 100 veterans back to France each year, and are open to anyone who took part in Operation Overlord or the wider Normandy campaign.

For more information about the D-Day Revisited project, go to www.d-dayrevisited.co.uk or phone 01244 531765.

Three serious collisions in Thame area

FIRE crews in Thame have dealt with three separate serious road traffic collisions in recent weeks, all occurring in the Thame area.

On October 27, a man was seriously hurt after being thrown from his car when it collided with a tree on the A329 between Milton Common and Thame at around 11pm.

A second incident took place on November 3 after two vehicles collided on the M40 near to junction 8a.

Two male occupants of a van were treated at the scene, and were both taken to hospital for further checks.

Then on November 6, a man was seriously hurt and had to be cut free from his car after a collision between two vehicles on the A329 near Great Milton.

A woman was also taken to hospital with a broken wrist.

Watch manager Andy Ford from Thame fire station said: "The people injured in these collisions suffered serious injuries and it's very fortunate it has not been worse."

"We would remind all drivers that with the dark nights and wet weather, road conditions can be slippery."

Please take extra care and drive according to the conditions."

Train hits car at level crossing

A BANBURY woman has been detained under the mental health act after the car she was driving was struck by a train in Yarnton on Tuesday.

The incident took place at the Sandy Lane level crossing on Tuesday at around 4.40pm. Police, fire crews and the ambulance service were called out.

The woman, believed to be in her 40s, remains in hospital for assessment, although her injuries are not understood to be serious.

At the scene she was discovered in her black Volkswagen Golf, and had to be cut out of the car.

A British Transport Police spokesperson said: "The train involved, the 2.45pm Bournemouth to Manchester Piccadilly Cross Country service, remained upright and on the tracks.

"There were no reported injuries to the 100 passengers onboard the train."

It comes after an 85-year-old man was killed at the level crossing in January.

Officers are working to establish the full circumstances surrounding the incident, and are asking for anyone with information about the incident to contact 0800 405040.

University alumni go back to the classroom

OVER 100 Oxford University students, staff and alumni have joined a programme to encourage pupils at their former state schools to continue with higher education and apply to university.

Oxford students were the biggest group to offer their support as part of this year's Back to School Week, a nationwide campaign for former students to help young people at their old schools.

It was organised by social enterprise charity FutureFirst, who encourage those taking part to return to their former state school to give career and UCAS talks and guidance, become a governor, or make a donation.

Oxford University Student Union (OUSU) and the university's Widening Participation team collaborated to sign up as many undergraduates for the scheme as possible.

Rachel Pickering, Vice-President for access and academic affairs at OUSU, said: "We managed to sign up three times as many people to this excellent scheme than any other student union, accounting for nearly five per cent of national sign-ups.

"This is amazing and really proves how engaged our students, staff and alumni are in outreach and access work."

OUSU signed up many students during Freshers' Week, while Widening Participation gave out postcards to staff and sent information to parents.

Tara Pravag, head of Widening Participation, said: "Our staff make countless visits to schools throughout the year to encourage students to think about higher education. But there is no substitute for school children being able to hear directly from students who were in their position only a few years ago."

Oxford University Press will also be contributing by providing 1,000 books to be given to state school students.

This is part of Widening Participation's primary school programme, to help 35 schools in Oxfordshire, Buckinghamshire, Milton Keynes and Swindon.

Police released image of bedroom attacker

POLICE have released an e-fit following a sexual assault that took place in Oxford in the early hours of October 9.

At 4.30am, a woman was asleep in a James Street property when she awoke to find a man in the room with her, who then kissed her and left the building through a window.

A man matching his description was then seen outside the same property on October 18, who knocked on the door and then left the scene.

He is believed to be black or mixed race, in his early to mid-twenties, around 5ft 7ins to 5ft 8ins, of lean build with dark short hair.

During the first incident, he was wearing dark trousers and a grey plaid lumberjack-style shirt.

The second time, the man was seen wearing dark blue jeans and a long-sleeved black and white shirt.

Detective Sergeant Simon Hannam, investigating officer of Force CID based in Oxford, said: "The victim of

• Have you seen this man?

this assault, though thankfully unhurt, was left very shaken."

"I urge anyone who saw a man in the e-fit or matching the description to contact police immediately, or call Crimestoppers."

U's players hope to hit right notes

A HANDFUL of Oxford United players will be part of a special Christmas choir later this month.

Striker James Constable, defenders Johnny Mullins and Sam Long and midfielder Scott Davies, along with members of the Ladies team and Youth team, will form an Oxford United choir.

They will be trained by Darren Lord, a musical director who has previously worked on Mamma Mia and Wicked, before the big performance on November 24 on a main stage in St Giles.

James said: "I'm delighted to be a part of the Christmas Choir to really show that we as a club want to be involved with our local community.

"I'm not convinced by my voice but hopefully Darren Lord will be able to improve that."

It is all part of Oxford City Council's Day of Song, which will see ten local and national choirs performing in cultural venues, shops and St Giles.

The players will be singing as part of the big finale to the Christmas Light Festival.

Rachel Capell, events officer at Oxford City Council, said: "This is the first time we have organised the Day of Song and we are really excited that so many choirs are taking part.

"We are also pleased that Oxford United players are joining us and we hope that it will attract a variety of people to the city on Sunday afternoon."

"The day is an opportunity to walk round different cultural venues and listen to a variety of different choirs before joining us for the finale in St Giles which promises to be fantastic."

Christmas Light Festival is an annual event of art, music, dance and performance.

It begins with Christmas Light Night and the Lantern Parade on November 22 and ends with the Day of Song, taking place from 10am until 4pm across the city with the finale at 3.30pm in St Giles.

Host parties to raise funds for homeless!

AN OXFORD-BASED charity is calling upon families, schools, offices and community groups to host Christmas parties to help raise money for homeless people.

Crisis Skylight Oxford, the city's branch of the national charity for single homelessness, want people to support its work as the festive seasons draws closer.

Lord Mayor of Oxford Dee Sinclair met Kate Cocker, director of Crisis Skylight Oxford, and Debbie Smart, who has been homeless, at a special launch event for the Crisis Christmas Parties.

Leslie Morphy, Crisis chief executive, said: "Being homeless is a frightening, lonely, desperate place to be - and the sad fact is that homelessness is rising."

"By hosting a Crisis Christmas Party, you will allow us to help even more of the most vulnerable and isolated people in our society, all year round."

Last year 311 households in Oxfordshire were accepted as homeless by their council, a 25 per cent increase over two years.

Ms Smart became homeless after the break up of her marriage, having struggled with mental health problems throughout her adult life.

She said: "Crisis has given me hope, a sense of purpose and a place to feel welcome - it's become my candle in the dark."

OXFORDSHIRE'S County Youth Orchestra was given the chance to perform at the Royal Albert Hall on Tuesday, as they took part in the National Schools' Prom.

It followed an award-winning performance at the National Festival of Music for Youth back in July.

Melinda Tilley of Oxfordshire County Council said: "This was a fantastic opportunity and the experience will no doubt live in their memories for years to come."

Home scheme

AN AFFORDABLE home contents insurance scheme, which aims to help Oxford City Council tenants protect their possessions, has been announced.

It will be launched in January 2014, and covers tenants' personal belongings against theft, fire, vandalism or burst pipes.

Cllr Scott Seamons, board member for housing, said: "Tenants need to think about taking out home contents insurance to protect their possessions. It's a scheme that meets many people's needs at a price they can afford."

Workshops

SCIENCE Oxford have revealed a list of schools where they will be staging workshops during the rest of the month, in the run-up to the judging of their construction challenge.

Cuttislowe Primary School will be holding a workshop tomorrow morning, while SS Mary and John Primary School will host theirs the following Friday.

As part of the construction challenge, children work in teams to build a working model of a crane, allowing them to understand a range of engineering skills.

Review is due

A JUDICIAL review into Cherwell District Council's decision to approve the Banbury Gateway development concluded last Thursday, with a final decision expected in the coming weeks.

The two-day hearing at London's High Court came about because Aegon and Scottish Widows, who respectively own Banbury Cross Retail Park and Castle Quay, were concerned the decision-making process was not legally sound.

It relates to investment company LXB's plans to create a number of retail units and cafés on the existing Prodrive site in Acorn Way, approved by the council in March 2012.

World record

MORE than 30 pupils from Ferndale Preparatory School in Faringdon got to go to the Royal Albert Hall as part of a successful Guinness World Record attempt, for the most Ocarinas playing at the same time.

More than 3,200 children and adults filled the venue, to beat the record previously set in China.

Jonathan Greator, head of music at the school, said: "The atmosphere was incredible and it was a really special event."

THE repatriation of Warrant Officer Class 2 (WO2) Ian Fisher, from 3rd Battalion The Mercian Regiment, is scheduled to take place from RAF Brize Norton today.

WO2 Fisher, 42, from Barking, Essex, died on November 5 during a two-day operation to disrupt insurgent activity in Kamparak, Helmand Province, Afghanistan.

His vehicle was targeted by a suicide attack, and after being evacuated by air to the military hospital at Camp Bastion, it was confirmed that he had been killed in action.

He leaves behind his wife Emma and two sons: James aged 7 and William aged 5, and parents Simon and Helen.

Paying tribute to her husband, Emma said: "Ian will always be the centre of my life, and he will be remembered as a doting father, loving husband and a true professional soldier."

"He loved being a soldier, that's what he lived for. We are all so proud and always will be."

Lieutenant Colonel Chris Davies, commanding officer of 3rd Battalion The Mercian Regiment, said: "To lose a soldier in combat is a tragedy that hits any unit hard.

"But to lose a warrant officer of WO2 Ian Fisher's calibre and standing in such a tight knit family regiment is a huge blow that has left the whole battalion numb."

"His reputation as a tough-talking, no nonsense sergeant major belied his quick wit and mischievous sense of humour, and his men loved him for it."

"Our thoughts are with his wife Emma, two sons, James and William, and his parents, Helen and Simon, at this most difficult of times."

Warrant Officer Class 1 Robert Mears said: "WO2 Ian Fisher was a dependable, loyal and trustworthy man who had the respect of his peers, friends and subordinates alike."

"Ian will leave a gap in our battalion and our wider regimental family. He will be sorely missed by all as he was known for his ability, sense of humour and sheer professionalism."

The Secretary of State for Defence, Philip Hammond MP, said: "It is with great sadness that I learned of the death of WO2 Ian Fisher.

"It is clear from the tributed from his colleagues that he was an exemplary soldier who made a huge contribution to the Army over many years, on a number of operational tours."

"My thoughts and deepest condolences are with his family and friends."

Remembering all year round

Remember. We remember our fallen in November but remembering all those who did not return or did return but physically or psychologically injured is not just for November but all year around.

On November 30 1939, many miles from Britain, began a titanic struggle for survival. The end result may well have saved Britain from invasion.

A country with a population similar in size to Wales was invaded by the largest most modern army in the world at that time. This was a David versus Goliath conflict, one which I'm sure the Finns would have wished to avoid.

Stalin was satisfied that his army would be in Helsinki within a week. He was to be disappointed and in March 1940 a conditional surrender was signed.

Finland lost significant areas of land but retained their freedom.

The fact that a few Finns had caused such chaos to Stalin's invasion plans probably encouraged Hitler in his wish to invade Russia and hence his attention was drawn away from Britain.

There are still a number of Didcot residents who fought in WW2.

Talking to the WW2 veterans I've met in Didcot, they are always modest but having read the history of the various Divisions and units involved, these gentlemen experienced some very hard fighting.

A number of veterans who were involved in conflicts in the 40s, 50s and 60s recently came to the Cornerstone to attend the unveiling of commemorative artwork, some of which was created by pupils at Didcot Girl's school.

Council project shows student improvement

OXFORD schools have seen an improvement in the progress of their pupils' reading and mathematics skills, following a project launched by the city council.

The Education Attainment Project has seen eight schools serving the more disadvantaged areas of Oxford take part, with the aim of narrowing the gap in attainment for children.

It is part of Oxford City Council's KRM programme, which teaches all children the key skills they need to read, write and do mathematics well.

Cllr Pat Kennedy, board member for education, said: "I am delighted that so many children are enjoying their learning and making such encouraging progress."

"Fluent reading is fundamental for achievement in many areas of life."

"The work that the council has been doing with schools in disadvantaged areas is fantastic and I hope that we continue to be rewarded with good results."

In the KRM teaching sessions, pupils are taught phonic skills, spelling, vocabulary and learning words on sight in order to read fluently.

Sessions occur three times a day for 15 minutes, and all children are included regardless of their disability and language needs to ensure they learn together.

As part of the programme, each school was given £8,000 worth of what are being dubbed 'real' books, in that they are not the ones used as reading scheme books within many schools.

East Oxford Primary School is one of the sites taking part in the programme, and interim executive headteacher Lisa Biggin believes it has been a success.

Figures for the school show that in the six months from January to July 2013, the average progress in reading for children in years two, three and five had more than doubled.

Ms Biggin said: "The children are enjoying the KRM programme. The injection of the 'real' books has had a high quality impact on reading opportunities."

"The school is starting implementation of the KRM writing programme shortly to target and accelerate progress further."

Youngsters given chance to find their talent

UNIPART, a name familiar with Oxford United fans, have once again combined with the football club to help unlock talent in young people.

The Cowley-based company that provides manufacturing, logistics and consultancy solutions for global companies have teamed up with Oxford United for a second year to help young people unlock their true potential.

Most fans will remember Unipart being United's shirt sponsors during the Manor days, but the two have now combined to expand the company's Talent Factory.

Paul Brooks, development director at Unipart, explained: "The intention is to, under the talent factory banner, identify future talent."

"School children will go through an experience day with Oxford United and Unipart and then what we will try to offer them is an application to do a whole weeks worth of experience with Unipart."

"From those that do the weeks work experience everyone of those will get the opportunity to apply for an apprenticeship with Unipart so that is the sort of talent progression that we are trying to do."

• Tony Davison, Talent Factory project manager Chris Murphy, business development manager at Oxford United Peter Rhoades-Brown and Paul Brooks.

Tony Davison, Oxford United's commercial director, added: "Unipart's commitment to helping in the community in and around Oxford ties in perfectly with some of the very exciting projects that we are looking to implement across the county."

Pop-up shop is set for Bicester town centre

A NEW 'pop-up shop' is coming to Bicester today and tomorrow, offering help and advice about apprenticeships for young people and their families.

The Oxfordshire Apprenticeships scheme will be setting up at the Crown Walk shopping centre, and people are being urged to drop in and find out more about potential career opportunities.

Oxfordshire County Council will also be at the site, to offer advice to potential employers interested in taking on an apprentice.

Cllr Melinda Tilley, cabinet member for children, education and families, said: "Record numbers of young people have started an apprenticeship in Oxfordshire during the past year and are seeing the benefits of earning while they learn."

"There is a wider choice of good quality, local apprenticeships than ever before, with options to suit a host of different interests."

"I would urge anyone to come along and find out more."

The shop itself has been fitted out by youngsters on construction pre-apprenticeship courses at Kidlington-based ACE Training.

Emma Forbes from ACE Training said: "The Apprentice Shop idea is a really innovative way to get school leavers excited about apprenticeships. Experience counts for everything in today's job market and apprenticeships give you an NVQ as well as a paid job. Our apprentices are thriving in construction trades, from small carpentry firms to large brickwork specialists."

"Many of them didn't achieve well at GCSE and are proving that you don't have to succeed at school to excel at work."

Following on from the pop-up shop in Bicester, small businesses will also have a chance to find out about apprenticeships, in an event to be held in Woodstock on Tuesday.

It is taking place at the Marlborough Enterprise Centre from 9.45am to 11.45am, and will also be giving advice to sixth form students at The Marlborough School. For more information about both events, go to www.oxfordshireskillsboard.org/apprenticeships.

The day when Kryten met humanoid Artie

ACTOR Robert Llewellyn visited Oxford Brookes University last week, and was given the chance to meet a life-sized humanoid robot Artie.

Robert, most famous for playing Kryten in the sitcom Red Dwarf, was at Brookes to talk to digital media students about his experiences in the media industry on and off camera.

He later visited the department's new Cognitive Robotics Laboratory to meet Artie, a 'RoboThespian' created by Engineered Arts in Cornwall.

Artie is part of the department's research in human-robot interaction, allowing students to apply their understanding of programming to the control of sophisticated robots.

Writing on Twitter, Robert said: "Had the bizarre pleasure of meeting Mr RoboThespian. He's an amazing chap."

"He is spookily able, his eyes and head follow you around the room. He'll say whatever you type."

A RARE Oxfordshire clock is set to be sold in Yorkshire in the next few days, with an estimated guide price of between £25,000 and £30,000.

The clock was made by John Knibb, a former Mayor of Oxford who worked as a clockmaker in the city in the 17th century, with this example dating between 1685 to 1690.

It will be sold either tomorrow or Saturday by Tennants Auctioneers at their centre in Leyburn, North Yorkshire.

Charity award

A WOODSTOCK-BASED charity has won the prestigious Rochdale Pioneers Award for an outstanding contribution to the global co-operative movement.

The Plunkett Foundation helps rural communities through co-operation, with initiatives like setting up community-run shops and pubs alongside a range of food and farming co-operatives.

The charity's chief executive, Peter Couchman, said: "We are honoured to receive the award and to be the first organisation to be recognised in the way by the international co-operative movement."

SOUTH Wales duo Man Without Country perform in Oxford on Sunday evening, showcasing their atmospheric sound, heavy bass and powerful vocals.

Made up of Tomas Greenhalf and Ryan James, the group take influence from Scandinavian artists including The Knife, When Saints Go Machine and The Field.

Speaking about the band's music, Tomas said: "You don't know whether to dance to us or just listen to it, and wallow in it."

"The music is often moody, dark and melancholic, usually in minor keys, but there are also some uplifting passages which emphasise the poignancy of the lyrics."

Tomas and Ryan met on a popular music degree in 2006, with both admitting to each other the only reason they had joined the course was to find other musicians.

Ryan's love of music came when he was a teenager, with a love of the metal music of Death Cab For Cutie and The Postal Service.

• Man Without Country perform in Oxford on Sunday (Picture by Robert Bellamy)

"That's when I first realised the sort of music that was my calling, and that I wanted to sing," said Ryan.

"I hadn't realised before how creative and upfront you could be with lyrics and poetry, which took me down a different road."

"Some lyrics are more personal, and some are more ambiguous than others."

The pair exchanged a number of emails with snippets of audio attached, before taking it one step further and renting a rehearsal space.

Their debut album Foe soon followed, with help from renowned producer Ken Thomas, who had agreed to mix the album for them.

Tomas said: "We'd never had any outside involvement in our work, so it was good to have an impartial point of view to bring a fresh perspective on the music."

"Ken's work with punk and post-punk bands is also relevant to the outcome of Foe. We wanted that edge and energy, to prevent the songs from sounding too clean and clinical."

Sunday's show starts at 7pm, and tickets cost £6.

OXFORDSHIRE-BASED theatre company AmEgos are staging a production of Ira Levin's classic comedy thriller Deathtrap, on until Saturday in Wantage.

The comedy thriller holds the record for being the longest-running production of its genre, and has previously been adapted into a film starring Christopher Reeve and Michael Caine.

Abingdon actor Stephen Rees stars as Sidney Bruhl, while Wantage's Suzanne Parrott plays the part of his on-stage wife Myra.

Stephen said: "I appeared in AmEgos debut production 'The Rise and Fall of Little Voice', where I played the small town music promoter Ray Say, so was thrilled to get the part of Sidney in this fabulous thriller."

"Both Ray and Sidney were parts that have been played by Michael Caine in the film adaptations of these plays."

"Although the two characters are quite different, they are both prepared to scheme and engineer events to get success and they won't let anyone get in their way."

• Stephen Rees and Suzanne Parrott star in Deathtrap, staged in Wantage until Saturday

Suzanne added: "I knew quite a few of the AmEgos before I joined them for their debut production."

"I played Sadie, the quiet, lonely neighbour and although it's quite a gritty play, we had such a laugh rehearsing and performing it. "I wasn't able to take a part in the next production, the musical 'The Pajama Game', but agreed to be the stage manager."

"Then unfortunately one of the lead characters broke her hip in show week, and I stood in for her at the very last minute. It was quite hair-raising, but I loved it."

"So I was absolutely thrilled when I was offered the part of Myra in Deathtrap. The play is an edge of the seat thriller, with some great comic flashes, twists and turns to keep you guessing."

All shows take place at Shush! The Venue, starting at 7.30pm tonight and tomorrow and at 6pm on Saturday.

For more details, go to www.amegostheatre.com.

The Italian job

ITALIAN composer and pianist Ludovico Einaudi brings his evocative music to Oxford's New Theatre tonight, performing pieces he has written for more than 20 films.

KINGSTON BAGPUIZE DRAMA GROUP PRESENTS THE O'CONNOR GIRLS BY KATIE FORGETTE

"The O'Connor story takes place in 1997 over the Christmas holiday. Tom O'Connor has passed away, and his wife (Sarah) and children (Liz, Martha and Matt) have reunited to excavate his mountain of personal effects. As the family sifts through boxes of papers and bags of clothing, clues to the quiet patriarch's life are discovered, prompting the usual heated arguments and some unusual revelations. As the story of Tom and Sarah's marriage unfolds, the children are forced to reconsider their long-held opinions of their parents. In the midst of this emotional afternoon, a long-lost neighbour pays an unexpected visit. Also on the agenda for this day of upheaval is Catholicism, World War II, old films, old love, new love, oversleeping, overdrinking, and large purple hats. Tickets: £8 each. Don't leave it till the last minute

WITH less than six weeks to go, the biggest holiday season of the year is coming round fast

So to stave off those last minute Christmas rush around, and desperate calls to fully booked venues its better to get the ball rolling as early as possible.

Even in October when the summer sun is occasionally popping up for a cameo appearance getting bookings made for that Christmas bash or hotel stay for any visiting relatives is vitally important to avoid disappointment.

Right then, it's deadline time, what do you do? First off, assuming you haven't booked yet start looking through these pages and try to get ideas for what you want to do and then get on the phone.

The one booking that all of us seem to get involved in is the Christmas party or the meal out. Whether it is for workmates, family, or friends the basic rules are the same, you have to try to find something that appeals to everyone.

Friends and family should be easy to organise but the guys and girls you work with can be more of a problem.

A few basic guidelines should be adhered to.

Where to go is the big question. Almost certainly, you'll want to find a venue that is near to work.

Don't forget that many if not all attending will not be driving so it needs to be convenient for taxis, buses or walking. If you're planning on staying in one venue all evening, then it should also be convenient for people getting home later. If the party is going to carry on to other venues afterwards, then you may need to find somewhere centrally located for more bar and club options.

And how big? You'll need a room that can fit in everyone comfortably. Cram them all into a place that's too small and you'll no doubt start to see people leave half-way through the evening. On the other hand, a place too big will see the group start to separate into clunky groups.

Try to check out the venue on a busy weekend night to see how it feels with different groups of people sharing the place.

Food can be a tricky call to make. Some will try anything, some are more set in their ways and probably don't want their first experience of Sushi to be at the Xmas bash. Most restaurants, bars, and pubs have a range of meals outside their speciality, especially at Christmas so get copies of the menus faxed or emailed to you and get them approved early on by those attending.

And most importantly - price. Whether you're in charge of the money or just booking it for everyone, it's a fair bet that you'll have a set budget for the party. Not everyone has the same amount of money to spend so you will need to find a venue that provides value for money, and arrange natural breaks in the evening so anyone who has spent enough doesn't feel they look bad by leaving with everyone else still there.

You can be sure that among the venues in this feature you will find the perfect one to make your celebrations go off with a bang.

WIN Free Birds goodies!

New animated action film Free Birds may be timed to fit in with American Thanksgiving but the plot of this turkey twizzler is sure to appeal to everyone this side of the Atlantic as well.

Reggie (Owen Wilson) is a turkey with more brains than most. As the rest of the flock obliviously gobble the abundance of food provided by the farmers, Reggie suspects fowl play. They are being fattened up for a reason....

Kicked out from the coop, Reggie is therefore surprised to find himself not on the carving table but pardoned by the President and transported to a life of luxury at Camp David - spending his days eating pizza and watching trashy TV, life couldn't be sweeter.

But Jake (Woody Harrelson) has other ideas!

A musical adaptation by Bernard J Taylor
Of the Novel by Jane Austen

Jane Austen's Pride & Prejudice- The Musical

First published in 1813, Jane Austen's classic novel follows the main character "Elizabeth Bennet" as she deals with issues of manners, upbringing, morality, education, and marriage in the society of the landed gentry of early 19th-century England. Elizabeth is the second of five feisty daughters of a country gentleman living near the fictional town of Meryton in Hertfordshire. Though the story is set at the turn of the 19th century, it retains a fascination for modern readers, continuing near the top of lists of most loved books - possibly the first "Mills and Boon" of its type. It has become one of the most popular novels in English literature and receives considerable attention from literary scholars. Modern interest in the book has resulted in a number of dramatic adaptations and an abundance of novels and stories imitating Austen's memorable characters or themes. Up until now, there has been no musical version but this delightful adaptation by Bernard J Taylor brings a whole new dimension to Austen's tale. With amusing characters and enchanting melodies, this new musical is a true tribute to the 200th Anniversary of this enduring novel. To date, the book has sold some 20 million copies worldwide.

New Mazda has aged well

MAZDA'S compact supermini appeared on the scene in 2008. Cosmetic changes for the revised 2012 model include a refreshed face with five corner grille, and big fog lights. The same stylishly sculpted sides and rear-end remain, giving the Mazda2 a taut, dynamic stance.

This latest Venture Edition is based on the five-door hatchback Tamura model and features 16-inch gunmetal alloy wheels, sports styling kit and rear privacy glass. Two petrol engines are available; a 1.3-litre available with 75ps and 84ps outputs and a 1.5-litre with 102ps. The 84ps 1.3 tested here, returns 56.5mpg (combined cycle) and has a CO2 emission rating of 115g/km. Performance around town and on B roads is perfectly adequate – the little Mazda getting to 62 mph in 13.6 seconds. However, on faster A roads and the motorway it can start to feel a bit breathless, so if you're regularly travelling longer journeys, the bigger 1.5

REVIEW: Mazda2 1.3 Venture

By Philip Shoulder

@writeonmotoring

litre motor is recommended.

The 1.3 can sound also a bit vocal when worked hard, but otherwise refinement levels are acceptable. A stiff bodyshell and re-tuned suspension give the car noticeably better road holding and ride comfort than before.

The precise and nicely-weighted steering combined with compact exterior dimensions give Mazda's supermini a nimble and agile feel. Good visibility, a smooth drivetrain, light clutch and slick manual gearbox also make for an accomplished city companion. Specifications are up on Tamura-spec cars and include: driver's seat height adjustment, leather steering wheel, climate control, and electric rear windows, along with TomTom navigation and Bluetooth.

The cabin has an airy, spacious feel and gives occupants plenty of headroom and the rear bench is comfortably big enough for two. However, at 250 litres, boot space is on the small side.

A well aligned driving position usefully incorporates a left foot rest, although the steering wheel adjusts only for height and not reach; while the front seats – although comfortable – are rather flat and don't offer a huge amount of support. Trim quality feels a bit cheap in places, but it's a nicely styled dashboard, and the navigation function being far better than many rival systems.

Verdict:

Mazda's supermini has aged well, still managing to combine desirable looks and possessing enough ability to give it genuine appeal – although it can't ultimately compete with the latest supermini elite. The range would also benefit with the addition of an efficient diesel.

WINTER SERVICE & CHECK

Snow, fog, ice and rain are just a few of the dangers Winter can spring upon the motorist and to avoid getting caught out there is essential preparation to be done.

Most road safety organisations advise having your car serviced before Winter. Julians are able to help you with this and are offering a tailored interim Winter service including an oil and filter change, check wiper blades, tyres, lights, coolant and battery condition, in other words all the Winter maintenance essentials.

Oil & Filter change

The life of your engine depends on the oil you put in it. The engine oil minimises friction of the moving metal parts and helps dissipate the heat generated. It is essential to change your oil on a regular basis. We will use quality semi synthetic oil.

Check wiper blades

According to the Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents, during Winter 'the biggest single danger is being unable to see properly' so visibility is key. Worn or split wiper blades may cause them to leave smears and greasy marks on the windscreen and affect visibility, so to avoid these hazards we will replace your front wiper blades where applicable.

Check battery condition

During the Winter flat batteries are consistently the number one reason for breakdown, so during our Winter Service, we check it out, clean the terminals and top up the fluids to ensure it is ready for the perils of Winter.

Check the condition & pressures of tyres

The tread depth, tyre condition and pressure of your tyres are essential items that should be checked as is vitally important that your tyres grip the road properly to reduce the risk of skidding and aquaplaning in Wintery conditions. Julians fully endorse the guidelines set by the Tyre Industry Council, which state that tyres should be considered for changing when the tread depth remaining reaches approximately 3mm, at which depth they are 78% worn.

Check operation & condition of lights

Lights should be checked to ensure they are working properly. It is important to make sure lights are free from dirt; this includes your headlights, fog lights and indicators, so we will thoroughly check the operation and condition of your lights to ensure they are working efficiently

Prices from

£89.00

Check & top up all under bonnet fluid levels

We check all under bonnet fluids levels.

Check and top up brake, clutch and washer fluid

Visual Safety Check

As part of our Duty of Care to you, we will carry out a visual safety check of your vehicle, we will inform you of the condition of your vehicle and what remedial work, if any, need to be done and on what timescale.

Careful driving and a well prepared vehicle should make Winter a safer experience for you and your family.

* Antifreeze extra if required

DIDCOT AUTO-CENTRE NEW Hoffman/Snap-On 4-Wheel Vehicle Alignment

Today's more sophisticated vehicles can suffer if all the wheels are not pointing in the right direction and at the correct angles, causing:

- Poor handling and steering response
- Uneven and premature tyre wear
- Increased fuel consumption

This can be caused by kerb and pothole impacts, or after major work.

Didcot Auto Centre offer alignment using the latest laser Hoffman/Snap-On system, giving you peace of mind that your car is correctly adjusted.

- Four wheel alignment check (with printout) £45
- Alignment check and adjust to manufacturer settings from £65

Didcot Auto Centre also offer a full suite of service & repair packages, tyres, air-conditioning, MOT testing and economy remapping.

Smith thanks team after first season

BRADLEY Smith's rookie season in MotoGP came to a close on Sunday, with the Oxford-based rider coming seventh in the final race of the year at Valencia.

Smith made a trademark strong start and was able to fend off team-mate Cal Crutchlow for the opening six laps, before his compatriot was able to get back ahead.

Afterwards Smith had a relatively quiet race, but was able to bring his bike home and ended the year 10th in the standings with 116 points.

He said: "The gap to the fastest guys is less than 30 seconds again and that is a positive end to the weekend, and a really positive way to end the year."

"I think we definitely showed good progress throughout the season and I want to thank my team for the amazing job they have done in teaching and helping me over the last 12 months in this really tough category."

"It has been a lot of fun as well and I'm really grateful to have such an experienced squad behind me."

Testing for next year is already underway, and Smith was able to set the sixth-fastest time on Tuesday, after completing a total of 78 laps.

Nomads lose at Highmoor

OXFORD City Nomads lost their third game in a row on Saturday, after a disappointing 2-1 defeat away to Highmoor Ibis.

Nomads have slipped down the table in recent weeks after a strong start to the season, and following Saturday's game they were now sixth in the Hellenic Premier Division, with 32 points after 20 games.

Meanwhile, Thame United took two 2-1 victories within a week, the first of which coming at home to Binfield in the league on Saturday.

This was followed up with a 2-1 victory over AFC Hinksey in the Oxfordshire Senior Cup, and will play Carterton or Freeland in the next round.

Kidlington enjoyed a dominant 10-0 win over Chalgrove Cavaliers, as they also progressed to the next round of the county cup.

Abingdon Town picked up their fifth point of the season on Saturday, with a 0-0 draw at home to Highworth Town.

The Abbots next play Newbury on Saturday, with new manager Paul Davis at the helm after he was announced by the club yesterday afternoon.

A LATE Danny Rose equaliser saw Oxford United avoid an FA Cup first round upset at the hands of Conference side Gateshead last Saturday as they battled back from the brink to draw 2-2 and force a replay.

James Marwood's wonder strike from 30 yards put the Tynesiders in front on 12 minutes and United were in deep trouble just six minutes after the break as Jamie Chandler slotted the ball past Ryan Clarke for 2-0.

However, Chris Wilder's men rallied and the impact of substitute Ryan Williams saw United bombard the Gateshead penalty area for the last 20 minutes.

On 76 minutes the pressure paid off as Deane Smalley slammed home David Hunt's low cross for his sixth of the season.

James Constable also went close as United pushed for an equaliser but a last roll of the dice saw Adam Bartlett brilliantly deny Smalley and Rose bravely headed the ball over the line.

The replay will be played at Gateshead's International Arena on November 20, while a trip to Wrexham, another Conference club, awaits in the second round.

In a match where United look disjointed and average for 70 minutes, Rose was disappointed not to win the game.

He said: "It is a game we should be winning, not comfortably because they are a decent side, but we were not good enough in all aspects of the game especially the first 70 minutes.

"But we showed a bit of spirit which we have shown on many occasions."

He added: "We started quite brightly, we passed it well, and then the goal deflated us which it shouldn't do as it was 1-0 and it wasn't the end of the world.

"For one reason or another they managed to get a foothold in the game and after that their spirits were up and too many of us went into our shell."

"We started the second half quite brightly but the goal came again but thankfully we managed to scrape through in the end."

Tom Newey was forced off at half-time with concussion after a clash with Clarke but a more worrying sight for Wilder was his captain Jake Wright limping off with a hamstring injury after half an hour.

This weekend United return to league action and have the opportunity to go back to the top of the table as they travel to Mansfield Town.

Resilient City take four points from six

OXFORD City secured four points from six in three days this week.

Mike Ford's men thumped Stockport County 4-1 on Saturday, before coming from behind twice on Tuesday night to secure a 2-2 draw at Histon.

An unfortunate Lee Henderson own goal only spurred City on at the weekend, and Jamie Cook almost levelled after 10 minutes as his shot flew inches wide.

Five minutes later the home side did pull level when Tom Winters steered the ball home through a crowded box from Chris Palmer's corner.

The home side seized the initiative after the break and took a deserved lead with a superb 30 yard strike from Mike Symonds that flew past Ryan Jones in the County goal.

The visitors were then reduced to 10 men when captain and last man Kieran Charnock saw red after dragging down Darren Pond.

It was Pond who increased City's lead on 67 minutes when he headed powerfully home from Palmer's cross.

Symonds saw an effort ruled out for offside before Callum McNish set up Kayden Jackson to slot home City's fourth.

On Tuesday, goals from Winters and Jackson ensured city came away from Histon with their fourth away point of the season.

City are 18th in the Skril-

North with 12 points from 14 games.

Steady Eddie

FRILFORD Heath golfer Eddie Pepperell managed to finish in a solid tie for 50th place at the Turkish Airlines Open on Sunday, with a score of eight under par.

Rounds of 69, 74, 65 and 72 meant that Pepperell finished on the same score as three-time major champion Padraig Harrington, along with Belgian Nicolas Colsaerts.

However it was not enough to make the top 60 of the Race to Dubai, with Pepperell eventually finishing 76th, with 389,766 points.

Hawks win

OXFORD Hawks strong form continued on Saturday, with a 3-0 win to move up to sixth in hockey's South League Premier 1.

Goals from Jack Biggs, Tom Godding and Ethan Chapman wrapped up the points for Hawks, in what turned out to be a comfortable victory for the hosts.

They play again on Saturday, away at unbeaten league leaders Spencer.

Stars fade

OXFORD City Stars endured two defeats in the National Ice Hockey League 2 South over the weekend, with a 3-2 loss away at Lee Valley Lions on Saturday followed by a 6-2 drubbing at home to the Bristol Pitbulls. They have fallen to second in the league as a result, with 12 points from seven games.

10 in 10 for the Quins

OXFORD Harlequins faced more of a challenge, but were still able to make it 10 wins from 10 after coming from behind to beat Devizes 19-11 on Saturday.

Devizes were 11-5 ahead of half-time but Quins were able to get back into control, and now enjoy a seven point lead at the top of the South West 1 East table.

Meanwhile, Grove were able to grab a last minute try to earn a draw in their home match against Newbury Blues, which ended 16-16.

Guy Nicholl was the hero for Grove to earn his side a point, placing Grove ninth in the standings with 23 points.

Both sides are now preparing to play each other on November 23, when Quins host Grove for the first time this season.

In the SSE National League 1, Henley Hawks lost for the second game in succession, as they were defeated 17-10 at home to Old Albanian.

But Chinnor were able to pick up a 40-17 victory in the SSE National League 2 South, to sit tied-fourth in the league.

SEARCH IS ON FOR NEW BOSS

Chairman pays tribute to departing Noble as U's look for new manager

ABINGDON United chairman Debbie Blackmore hopes to have a new manager in place at the Northcourt by the end of next week.

Previous boss Paul Noble left the club last week by mutual agreement, with the club second from bottom of the Hellenic Premier with two wins from 19 games. Only neighbours Abingdon Town lie below them in the league.

After Noble's departure, Mrs Blackmore was quick to pay tribute to the man known by the club as 'Nozz'.

"I would like to place on record the clubs thanks to Nozz for all his time and effort he put in during a difficult start to the season," she said.

Senior players Scott Davies, Graham Edney and Gareth Tucker were placed in temporary charge of the team.

And the U's gave themselves something to cheer about on Tuesday night, with a hard-fought 2-1 win over Combined Counties Division One outfit Sandhurst Town in the quarter final of the Berks and Bucks Senior Trophy.

Goals from Leon Blackmore-Such and Josh Cook were the difference between the sides.

Their league game against local rivals Wantage Town, which was postponed on Saturday after falling foul of the weather, will now take place in February.

Mrs Blackmore added there had been six managerial applications 'who are all looking very good'.

"The interview process will take place next week," she said. "We need to appoint as soon as we can."

Mrs Blackmore also confirmed husband and club secretary John was out of hospital after suffering a broken back two weeks ago.

"He's at home now - he came home on Saturday," she said. "He's up and walking with crutches and starts physiotherapy next week."

The deadline for managerial applications closes tomorrow at 12pm. Anyone interested should email debbieblackmore@virgin-media.com.

Last-gasp Rose show gets U's out of jail

LATE goals from Deane Smalley and Danny Rose saw Oxford United battle back from 2-0 down to earn an FA Cup first round replay against Conference side Gateshead.

With 15 minutes to go the Tyne-siders looked to have put United to the sword but Chris Wilder's men never gave up hope.

The replay at Gateshead is scheduled to take place on November 20.
